TERMS---$2.00 A YEAR IN ADVANCE. SINGLE COPY, FIVE CENTS.

VOL. 43.

YORKVILLE, S. C., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 24, 1897.

NO. 94.

CONFLICT OF EVIDENCE.

BY RODRIGUES OTTOLENGUI.

Author of "An Artist In Crime."

Copyright, 1897, by G. P. Putnam's Sons.

SYNOPSIS OF PREVIOUS INSTALLMENTS. In order that new readers of THE ENQUIRER may begin with the following installment of this story, and understand it just the same as though they had read it all from the beginning, we here give a synopsis of that portion of it which has already been published:

"No, Miss Lewis, your action under the person to the sonire, who examined the present the sonire who examined
the present the sonire who examined
the present the sonire who examined
the circumstances was very commenda-synopsis of that portion of it which has already been published:

Chapter I.—Fifteen years before the opening of the story John Lewis went to live in a place called Lee, in New Hampshire, with a little girl 6 years old, Virginia, the daughter of his deceased sister. He had a son who had been left at school, but ran away and shipped for China. Five years after Lewis went to Lee a family named Marvel also settled there. Young Walter Marvel met and loyed Virginia Lewis. Alice Marvel, Walter's sister, and Harry Lucas also met and were reported to be in love with each other. At the opening of the story a person purporting to be the missing son of John Lewis arrives at Lee. Walter Marvel proposes for Virginia's hand to her uncle, who refuses, telling him that his uncle, who refuses, telling him that his uncle, whose name he bears, was a villain and a convict. Young Marvel draws a pistol and shoots at Lewis, but his aim is diverted by Virginia. Soon after Lewis is formed with properting to be the missing son of John Lewis arrives at Lewis, but his aim is diverted by Virginia. Soon after Lewis is formed with properting to be the missing son of John Lewis arrives at Lewis, but his aim is diverted by Virginia. Soon after Lewis is the plastered ceiling of the parlor, showing the furrow of a bullet. That was probably made by Miss Marvel or "No, Miss Lewis, your action under the circumstances was very commendathe the parlor, a moment he replied:

"I recognize this as the handwriting of Mr. Lewis. I am perfectly familiar with it, and there can be no doubt."

"The deduction then is so !! fevident," ontinued Mr. Barnes. "Dr. Snow has suicide; he is pay-sionate and impulsive. I thought the might become desperate enough to came the circumstances. "I admit that I did."

"No, no! I thought he circumstances. I thought the circumstances was and shoots at Lewis, but his aim is diverted by Virginia. Soon after Lewis is found dead in his room with two bullet holes in his body. His death occurs simultaneously with the arrival of the man who claims to be his son. II.—Mr. Barnes, the celebrated detective, and Tom Burrows, another detective, take up the case, strongly suspecting Virginia as the criminal. III.—They examine the grounds about the house where the murder is committed and find footprints of a man and a woman, the woman's footprints strengthening their suspicions of Virginia. They also find two pistols, one marked "Virginia Lewis," the other marked "Alice Marvel." Virginia writes a letter and goes away with it. Barnes, disguised, follows her. IV.—Virginia gives her letter to one Will Everly, who posts it. Barnes keeps his eye on it, gets possession of it and thus learns the where the surpossession of it and thus learns the was probably made by Miss Marvel or will us gives her letter to one Will Everly, who posts it. Barnes keeps his eye on it, gets possession of it and thus learns the where abouts of Walter Marvel. V.—Virginia visits Alice Marvel, who betrays a knowledge of the murderer. VI.—John Lewis, the supposed son of the murdered man, produces envelopes addressed to him to prove his identity. He excites suspicion by leaving his room at midnight. VII.—An autopsy is made of the dead man, and Barnes arrives at Lee with young Marwel, and an inquest is held, at which Alice Marvel testities that she fired one of the shots that killed Lewis, and Virginia constitutions and an inquest is held, at which Alice Marvel testities that she fired one of the shots that killed Lewis, and Virginia constitutions. "Gentlemen," said the squire, adshots that killed Lewis, and Virginia con-fesses that she murdered her uncle, presumably to shield the real murderer.

CHAPTER X.

VIRGINIA LEWIS TESTIFIES. she had shot Mr. Lewis, all present for witness, we will proceed. I will meredesire to minister to her wants, the re- that he found two wounds. Miss Mar- the same place. Thus she must have ensult being, as is usual in such cases, that the prostrate form of the young woman was surrounded, and she was deprived of all chance of fresh air. Fortunately Dr. Snow was present, and, calling upon Lucas to assist him, together they bore her from the room, follow them. The squire, utterly confounded at the unexpected turn of events, scarcely knew what to do next, and in order to gain time declared a recess of ten minutes. The jurymen started to leave their seats, but the squire requested that they would not do so and that they would not converse about the case with the other persons present. The crowd fell to discussing the situation and a hum of voices filled the room. Mr. Barnes and Mr. Tupper arose and went permitting only a couple of women to on the stand with the squire. "Well, gentlemen," said the squire, "this is a surprising affair. What shall

"Mr. Barnes," said the lawyer, "you are more conversant with the case. What is your opinion of Miss Marvel's

"Gentlemen," said No. Barnes, "it is evident that Miss A ... rvel really believes that she killed Mr. Lewis. It is affair." plain to my mind, however, that we wounds, one having passed through the river to meet another man." The lawnightdress, and the other not. This sim- | yer paused, waiting to note the effect of ple fact proves beyond doubt that the de- his words, but Virginia remained imceased changed his clothing after re- passive. ceiving the first wound. Therefore it is manifestly clear that the shot which the first was Harry Lucas, and, more, Miss Marvel admits she fired at him that you invited him to the meeting. could not have proved fatal, for if so Since I have shown you how much we would be obliged to believe that the know, you will doubtless see the folly other wound was made by the bullet of any attempt at concealment." from the pistol of Lucas in order to account for their being two wounds, but formed, I cannot see why you appeal to these shots followed in such close suc- me at all."

ity that he had already received the first wound and was in bed, when, attracted him." by the dog, he arose and went to the "Do you refuse to give us any inwindow. In that case he might have formation as to the nature of this combeen killed by the ball from Miss Mar- mission?" vel's weapon. Thus far, however, we have no evidence that would substanearlier. Miss Carpenter heard shots at as well to tell you that we also know Lewis when he fired at Lucas, as had 9 o'clock, the time when Miss Marvel who the other was." discharged her weapon. There is, however, more convincing evidence which deal," replied Virginia coldly. I can adduce to corroborate me in the stand which I take. I am in doubt not all that we wish to know. You met suspicion by hiding the pistol, you whether the wound which did not prove Mr. Lucas. Your conversation was should now be so ready to tell the whole fatal was made by Miss Marvel or not, overheard, and we therefore know that story?" or whether by Lucas, either accidental- you sent for him to ask his aid. You ly, as he claims to have fired, or with expected to meet Mr. Marvel." Mr. that the weapon was found by me where design. But I am positive that neither Tupper spoke in his usual measured it was, but I thought that if I offered it of the shots fired at that hour was the tones, and both he and Mr. Barnes in evidence myself I would avoid the which you told me, do you not?" asked when they would produce the man him-

Mr. Tupper.

"I do," replied Mr. Barnes. "But ing unfinished. This seems to prove cided to have his friend, Mr. Lucas, op- been to replace the empty shell by so?"

to see that he did no harm. Now will tinued. you tell us what you feared he would

"I see that you have managed to discover all that Miss Marvel knew. Will not that suffice?"

"We wish to know why you were so "I believe such a thing as 'fear' is unknown to me, so you are far from its possession. The next question was: that Mr. Lewis recognized his first as- the truth. No man is in an enviable sailant at least, and that, fearing death, frame of mind when a woman rejects

"Gentlemen," said the squire, ad- when I reached my room." "Thank you." It was his cue to con-

"No, sir. I entered my apartment by Mr. Barnes believed that this was a moment sat dumb with amazement. ly call your attention to the fact that, true, for he had traced her footprints When they saw that she had fainted, | though Miss Marvel admits that she from the steps of the piazza by the dinall were immediately possessed by the fired at Mr. Lewis, Dr. Snow testified ing room, and returning they reached vel could not inflict two wounds by fir- tered the house at that point, and natuing one shot and cannot know herself rally passed through the dining room whether or not she has committed a to her own chamber. Resuming the ex-

> "During the night did you hear your Mr. Tupper conducted the examination. | uncle moving about?"

> "Miss Lewis," he began, "I believe von are the only one save the deceased "Now let as come to the discovery of who slept at the farm on the night when the crime. You will recall that when the detectives accidentally disturbed you in your room, the morning after, "Did you hear any shot fired while you admitted that you had already found out that your uncle had been murdered. Thus you were the first to

"Then you have no idea who killed do so. Is that a fact?" "Any idea that I have would be no I knew of the death of my uncle at that > parlor, and you had found the body, which you recognized as that of your uncle, or I may say stepfather, before the squire and the others arrived?"

"Yes, sir." "Did you take anything from the

"At what time did you go out, and room?" "Yes, sir; I took a pistol."

when did you return?' "I did not expect to be questioned and so made no note of the hours.'

proof and therefore is not worth con-

"Oh, you suspect some one, do you?"

"Any suspicions which I may have

"Were you in the house all the even-more evidence. Therefore, notwith-

homicide. Call Virginia Lewis."

"I believe that is true."

ou were in the house?"

would not be evidence."

your uncle died?"

"I did not."

your uncle?"

sideration.

"No, sir."

ing?"

Virginia entered and took the stand.

"Will you tell us where you went?" "I will not, as that is my private "No one's affairs are private when should be most careful in accepting such murder has occurred. However, since a theory. In the first place I would call you refuse I will tell you where you attention to the evidence offered by Dr. went. First, you met a man in the Snow. He tells us that he found two summer house, and then you crossed the

"I will go further and tell you that

"Since you seem to be so well in-

"We do not claim to know everycession that there was not time for him to have effected the change of clothing. thing. Will you please tell us why you "There is, however, a bare possibil- asked Mr. Lucas to meet you?"

"I had a private commission to give

"I do." "Miss Lewis," said the lawyer, "I me, and as I passed through the parlor tiate a suspicion of this kind. Miss Car- have intimated that we have discover- I laid it on the mantel." penter and Mr. Everly would have ed the identity of one of the men whom heard the report if a shot had been fired you met that night, and it is perhaps that this was the pistol used by Mr.

"You appear to have learned a great question was:

"We have found out something, but why, if you were so anxious to avoid one which destroyed the life of the de- watched Virginia closely, but even at suspicion which might naturally enough this name she did not flinch. Mr. have been aroused had any other person late hour? You say he did not see you. "You allude to the scrap of paper of Barnes wondered how she would act made the discovery."

self. Mr. Tupper continued: "You had been notified that he would destroy all trace of the use of the pislet me explain to the coroner, so that he await you in the woods across the tol, as was plainly proved by her havmay be convinced of the necessity of stream that night, and you were to de- ing cleaned the barrel. He knew also continuing. I found upon the table in termine whether or not you would clope that she was at present following out the parlor a sheet of paper upon which with him. This you concluded not to the plan which she had formed after she was written, 'If I am dead in the morn- do. Therefore you feared that he had seen him pick up the cartridge cap his own society."

dressing the jury, "Mr. Barnes, the detective in this case, the district attor- ciliate her as far as possible. "When ney and myself are satisfied that a true you went in, did you pass through the verdict cannot be rendered without parlor?"

When Alice made the statement that standing the words uttered by the last the door opening into the dining room. amination, Mr. Tupper asked:

"I believe so. At least it is true that time.

"Exactly. You had gone into the

"Where d'd you find this pistol?"

"On the floor."

"Why did you take it?"

"Because it is mine and has my name on the stock, and because if found by any one else it might have been unpleasantly suggestive.

"I believe it showed evidence of having been fired off, did it not?" "That was another reason why I was anxious to have it." Virginia was causing profound astonishment by her admissions. Even Mr. Barnes himself was puzzled to understand why she should acknowledge that the had purloined the weapon to avoid suspicion, when that very confession would undoubtedly attract a closer investigation into her connection with the crime. "Miss Lewis," said Mr. Tupper, "how came your pistol to be discharged?" "I use it constantly, and therefore it is quite possible that I fired at something on Saturday." "That is, the day before the murder?"

"Yes, sir." "How did it happen to be out of your possession on Sunday night?" "I had it when I started out, but changed my mind about taking it with

This answer suggested the possibility been testified by Miss Marvel. The next his footprints that he visited the farm, "Now, if you please, will you explain

"I never intended to conceal the fact

Mr. Barnes knew this was not true and that her first intention had been to portunely meet him after you left him, another. Her examination was con-"Did you remove anything else from the room where the corpse lay?"

"I did." This reply was a complete surprise to Mr. Barnes. He knew that Mr. Tupper was alluding to the paper upon which, fearful of leaving this young man to they thought, was written the name of the murderer, and he was astonished to farmhouse, he folded it so that only the find that she appeared about to admit first half of the sentence could be read. "Will you kindly state what that was and why you took it?"

"It was a medallion locket. I took that also because it is mine." Mr. Barnes now understood why she had admitted taking something, since it was not the paper. He was never-

"Where did you find this locket?" asked Mr. Tupper. "I noticed that my uncle had his fist tightly closed, as though holding sometheless curious about this new point.

the locket." "Have you it with you?"
"Yes, sir." Taking it from her bosom, she handed it to him. Mr. Tupper examined it closely and opened it. Looking at the portrait which it contained, he asked: "Do you know whose likeness this Lewis, the second paper is in your pos-

"It is mine. It was taken when I was quite a child." Mr. Tupper was about to pass the Virginia was thrown off her guard. it, something attracted his attention, and scrutinizing it more carefully he in the bosom of your dress.' dropped it into his pocket and asked: "Miss Lewis, I think you said that this belongs to you?" "Yes, sir, though I have not had it for some time." "Ah! How was that?" "I had concluded that it was lost, but now I see that my uncle must have "How can you be sure that this is yours? Has it your name or any other mark by which you would know it?" "No; there is no name on it, but I know that it is mine, for, as you see, it cially for my picture, and it has been in my possession, except lately, for as long as I can remember." Mr. Tupper pondered a second, but said no more on this subject at that time. Nor did he pursue the point about the piece of paper directly, but determined to approach that by another method. "Now, then, Miss Lewis, we will go But stop—you have already admitted as this state were represented, it was rethe other side or whether he crossed over with you."

"We separated before I rowed back to

"Then you left him across the river?"

"Did he say where he meant to go? "To Epping." This seemed doubtful to Mr. Barnes in the face of the fact that he had found Marvel at Portsmouth, but then he re-

Tupper continued: "Did he say where he would go after that?"

nish me with a complete plan of his sult in good, I have been instructed to movements for the future. He did, call a convention of delegates from all to Epping, from which place he had Atlanta, Ga., on the 14th of Decemcome that night."

"Do you think that he proceeded to that place immediately after leaving are most earnestly requested to coyou?"

Virginia was very cautious, now that the subject involved information about her lover. "How should I be able to reply definitely?" said she.

"Do you know, then, whether he crossed the river and visited the house after parting with you?"

"I should say not, as I took the boat." "Do you mean to say that you did not see him after you left him at the maple tree?"

"I mean to say that I have not seen him since then. "Then, why should be have crossed the river?" "What makes you think that he did 802" "I do not think; I know."

"You cannot know unless you saw him, and that is impossible.' "Miss Lewis, there was snow on the ground, and not only do I know from but that he actually went to the very door by which you had re-entered. Of course I cannot know that he went in, for unfortunately there is no snow with-

Virginia was silent, and despite her strong control of her features it was evident that she was troubled. ' Now, then," said the lawyer, con-tinning, "the question arises, Why did Mr. Marvel visit your house at that Could it be that he sought your uncle, hoping to effect a reconciliation? I understand that the only obstacle to your union was his opposition, was it not?'

iu, as without."

"That Mr. Marvel should have sought my uncle at that hour is preposterous. You say that he did come to the house, which I doubt, but even though he did not succeed in seeing me, is it not more ing, my murderer is -the sentence be- would become desperate, and you de- in her room, the first step in which had probable that it was his object to do in their work.

"It so, how is it that he did not suc-BICYCLE LAW IN RUSSIA.

"I retired as soon as I reached home for I am a light sleeper."

Mr. Tupper now executed a bold move. Taking the paper which Mr. Barnes had found in the parlor of the Approaching Virginia, he suddenly held it up before her eyes and said:

"Did you ever see this before?" This was so unexpected that Virginia was thrown off her guard. At the first glance she smothered an exclamation and hurriedly put her hand to her breast. Instantly, however, her agitation passed, and she replied quite calmly.

"I believe you, for had you done so it would never have reached my hands. thing, and, forcing it open, I removed Now please take it and examine it > like my uncle's writing, and it would seem that he tried to communicate to us the name of his assailant." "Precisely, and, more, he made another attempt and-succeeded. Miss

She did so, and then said, "It looks session. "You are mistaken," she replied coldly. "I am not. I say not only did you take that paper, but you have it secreted about your person at this very minemile. Mr. Barnes showed some little excitement. He was accustomed to deal that some of the restrictions are abwith wary criminals, but had never surd, and that, with or without laws, met a woman so provokingly self pos- courtesy and common sense would insessed as this one.

"Come, Miss Lewis," said Mr. Tupper, "it is useless to deny what I say. was to see what you would do, believ rights of decent people, because de-ing that your first glance would make cency is a reproach to him. What to tell her story. Beyond the fact you think it was the other paper As I shall be done with him? expected, you at once feared that you In St. Petersburg, perhaps, the pohad lost it and instinctively felt for it lice send him to Sibera. In Chicago Miss Loughran insisted upon the become of near discovery.

"Did I?" with a shrug of the shoul-

Mr. Tupper looked at her a moment and then, with his eyes still intently upon her, he said, "Call Walter Mar-

TO BE CONTINUED.

Miscellaneous Beading.

ADDRESS TO COTTON GROWERS.

President Wilborn Calls For Delegate to Meet In Atlanta. Carolina Farmers' Alliance, has, in the cotton growers of the south. It is as follows: COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 19, 1897. To the Cotton Growers of the South of the cotton growers of the state of invited to send delegates to a convention to be called to meet in Atlanta, Ga., December 14, 1897. The purpose of this convention is to organize the cotton growers of the south, thereby securing unity of action in the marketing and sale of this great staple, also to devise ways and means by which we may be able to break and throw off the shackles of business slavery that now binds us. With formembered that Joseph Harrison had testified to meeting Marvel at Epping on can only expect ruin and distress in a large black bear burst out of the the morning after the musder. Mr. the future. We can achieve independence only by organization. With a view of securing an exchange of ideas and perfecting an or-"He did not lay out a route and fur- ganization which it is hoped will reber, 1897. All who are interested in this cause operate. The governors of the cotton growing states have been asked to select delegates and all state organizations interested in the prosperity of name and secure the attendance of delegates at this general convention.

J. C. WILBORN, President South Carolina Cotton Growers' Association. President Wilborn has, in the following letter, asking Governor Ellerbe southern governors: COLUMBIA, S. C., Nov. 19, 1897.

His Excellency, W. H. Ellerbe, Gov. ernor of South Carolina: DEAR SIR-Will you kindly ask the called to meet in Atlanta, Ga., December 14, 1897 ? The purpose of this convention is to of cotton and to devise some plan, if skirt. The sharp claws even went possible, by which the producers of deeper and scratched Miss Loughran's his great staple may receive a price leg. At that Miss Loughran screamed above the cost of production. We realize that concert of action mong the farmers of the south is essential, therefore I urge that earnest, thought every minute was to be my earthen baking dish. Pour over them oractical farmers be appointed from each state. The representation we would ask for is one for each congressonal district and two from each state wheels of the bicycle. Not a mile at large, to assemble in Atlanta, Ga., December 14, 1897. With the hope of your kind cooperation, I am,

Most respectfully, J. C. WILBORN, President South Carolina Cotton Growers' Association. Governor Ellerbe has already indi-seriously, and it was natural enough cycle. The claws sank deep into the and did not hear any one enter after that the bicycle should cause them tire, and wheel, rider and bear went me. That is why I doubt your theory, auxious thought. Fancy a militant toppling over, a confused mass, in the Nihilist scorching through the Nevski dusty highway. Prospect, with his tool-bag full of dy- When Miss Loughran struggled to namite! It was after some horrid her feet, she was covered with dust dream like this, perhaps, that the chief and bleeding from a scratch in the of police of St. Petersburg haltered the face. Turning about, she saw the bear silent steed with 17 "regulations." The new rules say that no bicycler self from the wheel. Then Miss shall perform in public until he or she Loughran did what few city girls are has been registered. No person can capable of doing. She climbed a tree. be registered without passing "an ex-amination on the wheel" before one of useless to run away, for it would not the seven cycling associations. Then be long before the bear would be free the wheel receives a number, which and after her. How she ever got up ride together, they must keep not less that bears can climb trees. It was not than 14 feet apart-a rule which proves until she was perched there that this that the Irish bull, as well as the thought came to her.

American bicycle, has been naturalized "Great goodness! S in Russia. When turning a corner or should climb this tree!" she cried. crossing a street the bicycle must be The thought made her shudder. ridden very slowly, with bell-ringing Happily for her, this occurrence was accompaniment. In crowded streets averted. Just as the bear had sucriders must alight and lead their wheels, ceeded in getting itself untangled from and they must do the same when hor- the wheel, a pack of bunting dogs ran ses take fright. In certain parts of out into the road a short distance the city bicycling is at no time permit- above. The bear immediately turned ted. In other sections the police may tail and fled into the woods on the enjoin it temporarily. "Riding in the opposite side of the road, followed by city in a racing costume, without a the dogs. A minute later two young coat, or in such a costume as would hunters came into view. Both were Virginia answered by a half scornful attract special attention, is prohibited." running. When they saw the bicycle The natural comment on all this is they stopped.

spire a gentleman to observe those of Loughran. the rules that are essential. But there are others. Possibly Rus-I set a trap for you deliberately, and sia, like America, has to reckon with you were caught, in spite of all your the problem of the hoodlum bicycler, said he to his companion. strength of will. When I showed you The "tough" who scorches in the city, that paper, I well knew you had no idea raids gardens and orchards in the of the tree, rather the worse for her that it existed, and therefore my object country, and in all places invades the experience, yet relieved to know that > the wheelmen themselves have taken dling the wheel herself to her aunt's bim in hand, and gentlemen named by home, though she was accompanied the various cycling clubs have been the greater part of the way by the appointed special policemen, to co- two young men, one of whom was operate with the regular officers for from New York, and the other from > his suppression. The Chicago method is more Demthe hoodlum bicycler endanger the happen. My only regret is that the standing of the sport, the gentlemen horrid bear was not killed." riders of America will most emphatically reform the rowdy.—Youth's the cotton convention which met in James Davis, near this place, writes disasters, early in the fight, for three Columbia recently, issued a call to a Woodford, Vt., correspondent, had of them had touched ground and one tic wheelwoman, and when she came from Jersey City she brought her bi-At a large and enthusiastic meeting cycle with her. She had gone about five miles from her aunt's house, and from his flag-ship the signal for the you please. Did you meet Mr. Marvel? South Carolina, wherein all sections of was returning home, when she heard the sharp crack of a rifle. That is much. Tell us whether you left him on solved that every state in the south be nothing unusual at this time of the year in Vermont, for the deer season is now open, and there are many hunters in the woods. Miss Loughran would probably not have paid more than passing attention to the shot had she not heard immediately afterward number 16 still hoisted?" a heavy body crash through the unturned around, and so doing, lost her balance. To save herself from a fall the little admiral say : she dismounted.

Companion. WILD FLIGHT FROM A BEAR.

Hardly had she left the wheel when evident that the animal was wounded, endeavored to lick its left shoulder. Miss Loughran screamed, and made a "Do you know what is shown on board desperate attempt to remount her the commander-iu-chief? wheel. Never before did her wheel however, mention that he would return the cotton growing states to meet in behave so disreputably. It wabbled as it never wabbled before, and cavorted with all the wickedness of an repeated. "Now shoot me if I do!" unbridled bronco. At least, that is what she thinks it did. No sooner did the bear see Miss Loughran than it gave a snort and eye. I have a right to be blind somemade a dash for her. Half frightened times." Putting his glass to his blind to death, Miss Loughran made another the cotton growers are requested to desperate attempt to mount her wheel, and this time was successful. Just as shot up alongside of her, and with one that does not see defeat is better than dart of his paw tore a jagged piece two good eyes that fail to recognize out of the side of her flapping skirt. success. The wheelwoman looked down upon to seek the cooperation of all of the the enraged bear, and wondered how long the race would last. So long as the bear did not get tangled up in the church one Sunday. The sermon was wheels, and she ran against no obstruction, she was reasonably sure of get-sermon came to an end at last, but ting away from the animal. But fate Perkins slept peacefully on. The deacovernors of the cotton growing states had not decreed that Miss Loughran cons began to take up the collection. to appoint delegates to the Cotton should escape absolutely unscratched. Growers' convention which has been The bear got over the ground with his wife nudged him, and Perkins sat surprising celerity. Once when round- up with a start. Gazing in a bewildering a turn in the road the bear drew ed manner at the extended hat and so near the wheel again that it tore then at the deacon, he shook his head consider the marketing, sale and price another piece from Miss Loughran's sleepily, and said, "That isn't my hat.

> at the top of her voice. "It's a wonder I was not heard in Woodford," she said afterward. "I the meats and put one cupful into an had been covered in the race with the are tender. When the nuts are partly bear, yet Miss Loughran imagined cooked, season them with salt and stir that she had gone at least half way to among them a teaspoonful of butter. the New York state line. The bear, though panting hotly, was beginning cated his intention of doing what he and strength. She began to pedal ute, 100,800 per day, or 36,817,200 per could to help the cotton growers along with renewed vigor, but the spurt was year, reckoning the year to be 3651 made too late. The bear was upon days in length.

her. Both its forepaws fastened them-The Russian police take things very selves on the hind wheel of the bi-making desperate attempts to free itmust be attached to it in two places.

The rider must be always armed with the police "permit," which bears his photograph. He must carry a bell and a lantern. When several persons the lower limb, over which she swung herself. In her excitement, she forgot that the sweng and a lantern.

"Great goodness! Suppose that bear

"I wonder where that bear got this wheel?" said one of the hunters. "If you please, it's mine," said Miss

The hunter looked around in astonishment. "I thought I heard a voice, Harley,"

Miss Loughran slid down the trunk that the rear tire was badly punctured, Miss Loughran insisted upon trun-Rutland, this state.

"I never expected to have such an ocratic than the St. Petersburg plan, exciting time in quiet old Vermont," and it will yield quite as good results. said Miss Loughran, "but then one Once they perceive that the antics of cannot always tell what is going to

HE COULD NOT SEE THE SIGNAL. Clark Russell has, in a recent issue of the New Illustrated Magazine, a pirited account of Lord Miss Jessie Loughran, of Jersey Battle of Copenhagen. Although the accordance with the suggestion of City, who is visiting her aunt, Mrs. English ships met with a variety of a lively adventure with a large black had been swept astern by a counterbear this week. She is an enthusias- current, yet Lord Nelson still kept his signal to "bear down" flying defiantly. About one in the afternoon Sir Hyde Parker, commander-in-cheif, hoisted > seemed not to hear him. The lieutenant waited for him to make a fresh turn of the deck, and said: "Shall I repeat it, my lord?"

action to cease. The signal-lieutenant reported the signal to Nelson, who

"No, acknowl-Nelson answered: edge it," and asked in a minute, "Is This number signified "for close acdergrowth skirting the roadside. She tion," and the sailor who answered "yes" was greatly surprised to hear

"Mind you keep it so!" The stump of his right arm began to show the strong agitation he was woods in full view of her. It was under; whenever Lord Nelson was worried, he worked his "fin," as the for it was snorting with rage, and sailors called it. Turning to Colonel Strout he said in a quick, eager voice:

> "No," said the colonel. "Why, to leave off action !" exclaimed Nelson. "To leave off action!" he Then turning to Captain Foley, he remarked: "You know, Foley, I have only one eye, he exclaimed: "I really do not see the signal !" He went on fighting, and the battle her feet caught the pedals and the first of the Baltic became one of England's burst of speed was acquired, the bear most famous victories. A blind eye

> Mr. Perkins, visiting his wife's relatives in Maine, says Life, attended long, and Perkins went to sleep. The When the bat was passed to Perkins,

Mine had a blue lining."

PEANUTS A. A VEGETABLE.-Peanuts may be baked and served as a vegetable. Remove the skins from two pints of boiling water, cover the Luckily for the young woman, the dish with a plate and place it in a bear did not get mixed up in the moderately cool oven and bake from four to five hours, or until the nuts

It has been computed that the to gain steadily on her; the excite- death rate of the globe is 68 per minment of the race was telling on her, ute, 97,790 per day, or 35,717,790 per and she was rapidly losing both nerve year. The birth rate is 70 per min-